01 INFRASTRUCTURE REFORM DERAILED BY INFIGHTING

INDONESIA

Infrastructural Projects with Priority

US Census Bureau

Almost half of Widodo's 10 priority infrastructural plans highlighted shortly after his inauguration have fallen to political infighting caused by a lack of cooperation amongst various stakeholders and ministries surrounding the reforms.

▶ At the foremost of the delayed projects would be Indonesia's US$2 billion airport railway line in the capital; designed to cut the travel time of one of the world's busiest airports from three hours to 30 minutes, issues of funding, location, and construction have delayed the project from coming to fruition for at least two years by latest estimates

▶ Currently, Indonesia's cost of moving goods costs as much as 27% of Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in 2013, an indication of how underdeveloped its infrastructure is in comparison to its regional neighbours such as Malaysia, Thailand, and Vietnam

▶ As infrastructural initiatives have long since been viewed as the staple of governments attempting to revitalise their economies, President Widodo's administration must find a way to green light said priority projects if there is any chance for Indonesia to revive its slowing economic growth and growing unemployment rate

02 VIETNAM TO SEEK ADDITIONAL LOAN FOR CHINESE-BUILT HANOI ELEVATED RAILWAY

The government has decided to seek an additional loan from the Chinese government for a Chinese-built elevated railway project in Hanoi that is becoming infamous for slow progress and ballooning costs. The estimated cost has increased by $315 million to more than $868 million.

- ▶ The loan of more than US$250 million will be used to complete the Cat Linh-Ha Dong Elevated Railway by 2016

- ▶ The 13-km line was originally scheduled to start in 2008 and finish in November 2013, and estimated to cost $552.86 million
- ▶ China provided $419 million in official development assistance. But work only got underway in October 2011

03 THAI-LAO-VIETNAMESE BUS SERVICED PLANNED

Thailand's state-owned Transport Co plans to extend bus services to a three state route following successes in its preliminary trials for its transnational services.

- ▶ According to acting president Noppharat Karunyavanich, negotiations were underway with authorities of the two countries to operate passenger bus services from Thailand's Nakhon Phanom province via Thakhek of Laos to Ha Tinh province of Vietnam
- ▶ Transport Co currently operates a total of 14 transnational bus routes, with 12 to Laos and two to Cambodia; successfully linking several Thai provinces with destinations in Laos which include Vientiane, Pakse, Savannakhet, Thakhek, Luang Phrabang and Vang Vieng
- ▶ Deputy Transport Minister Arkhom Termpittayapaisith said he hoped Laos, Thailand and Vietnam could sign the memorandum of understanding for the three-country bus service by the end of July; meanwhile, in a bid to meet increasing demand, Transport Co has doubled its bus frequencies from two to four daily routes to both Laos and Vietnam

04 NEW TRANSJAKARTA BUSES BRING HOPE FOR BETTER SERVICE

Five new Transjakarta buses that started operating in Corridor 1 on 15 July connecting Blok M in South Jakarta and Kota in West Jakarta received a warm welcome from passengers, who hope the new buses result in improved service.

- ▶ The Institute for Transportation & Development Policy (ITDP) recently said there had been a substantial decrease in the average number of Transjakarta buses per hour at eight of the 12 corridors this year compared to 2012 due to declining service.

- ▶ Lack of enforcement to keep Transjakarta lanes clear of other vehicles and uncertainty over bus arrival times were the most frequently voiced complaints from passengers
- ▶ Besides serving Corridor 1, the new buses would also serve Corridor 9 connecting Pluit in North Jakarta and Pinang Ranti in East Jakarta. Each bus is equipped with CCTVs and can carry up to 140 passengers with 39 seats, including six priority seats

05 SINGAPORE TO RAISE MINIMUM WAGES FOR FOREIGN WORKERS

The proposed changes by Singapore’s Ministry of Manpower (MOM) extend to foreign workers seeking to bring their families over with them.

- ▶ Currently, the minimum wage for foreign workers who qualify for dependant passes for their primary family members to join them in the nation state stand at SGD$4,000; the proposed changes would raise the monthly salary bar to at least SGD 5,000 by 1 September 2015
- ▶ Furthermore, those who bring their parents to Singapore on Long Term Visit Passes qualify for a minimum salary of SGD$10,000 per month, up from SGD$8,000 prior to the wage reforms; the increased minimum wages are designed to ensure that individuals working in Singapore are able to support their dependants in the face of inflating living costs

- ▶ The reforms, which would potentially affect approximately a total of 349,000 individuals, will undoubtedly attract an influx of foreign workers in the short term; however, critics such as David Leong, MD of the recruitment firm People-Worldwide Consulting, has cautioned that long term prospects for the increased minimum salaries may hurt the competitiveness of businesses in the nation

06 HUNGER STRIKES, PROTESTS TO OPPOSE THAILAND’S PLAN FOR COAL PLANTS ON ANDAMAN COAST

The popular tourist beaches near southern Thailand’s Andaman coast may soon play host to an unlikely new fixture: an 800-megawatt coal power plant.

- ▶ The plan to build a coal-fired plant in Krabi province, known for its white-sand tranquility, has prompted protests in the capital, an ongoing hunger strike and opposition from environmentalists and the country’s tourism industry
- ▶ More than 100 protesters rallied Monday outside the prime minister’s office in Bangkok. Protesters oppose the state power authority’s plan push ahead with a bidding process for the plant’s construction before an environmental impact assessment has been completed
- ▶ Despite Thailand’s commitment to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, its state power authority envisions building nine coal power plants in the south over the next two decades

07 GOVERNMENT : FOREIGNERS BANNED FROM PROTESTING

Foreigners who join protests against the government will now be subject to arrest and deportation, Phnom Penh’s governor and the government’s spokesman said yesterday, in the latest effort by the CPP to curb outside influence in the country’s political affairs.

- ▶ The municipal governor Mr. Pa Socheatvong defended the government’s decision to push ahead with the Law on Associations and Non-Governmental Organizations
- ▶ He said one of the reasons that many NGOs were against the law was because foreign-funded groups were involved in political activities outside their stated purpose, adding that the government would no longer tolerate the involvement of foreigners in protests

09 MORE WOMEN'S INVOLVEMENT NEEDED FOR DEVELOPMENT: PRESIDENT

LAOS

President Choummaly Sayasone has encouraged the Lao Women's Union (LWU) to continue its past achievements in socio-economic development and expand its membership nationwide, targeting the involvement of ethnic women.

- ▶ "The union has been continuously contributing their efforts to the development of the nation since the country went through the difficult time of the war against the aggressors," he said
- ▶ Mr Choummaly noted that LWU members of every period have contributed significantly to the nation's socio-economic development
- ▶ He also said women are a major engagement in the efforts towards socio-economic development, especially in the agriculture sector and the preservation of Lao culture
- ▶ President Choummaly also stressed that Lao Women's Union members nationwide should also work harder to continue their outstanding achievements as well as train more women to become self-reliant in earning incomes to support their families

10 VACCINE RATES RISE IN CAMBODIA

CAMBODIA

According to new estimates released by the World Health Organisation (WHO) on the 15th of July, coverage for various vaccines administered to infants in the Kingdom increased significantly over the past year, whilst the National Immunisation Program (NIP) scheduled by 2016 hopes to capitalise upon this trend.

- ▶ According to the WHO report, coverage for a Hepatitis B vaccination administered at birth increased from 60% in 2013 to 87% in 2014, while polio vaccination coverage rose to 98% from 77% in 2013; the number of children under 2 years of age who have received the required three doses of vaccines for diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis, as well as a later Hepatitis B shot, was up to 97% in 2014, a 5% gain
- ▶ The NIP, which will introduced inactivated polio vaccines in October, will further protect newborn infants from oral strains of the poliovirus; meanwhile, the NIP has already introduced a new rubella vaccine combined with a Measles vaccine (MR) in 2014 and coverage is already at 94%
- ▶ Earlier in 2015, the NIP committed to including the Japanese Encephalitis vaccine in its schedule on February 2016 and is submitting a proposal for the vaccine alliance GAVI to finance a new pilot program for the human papillomavirus (HPV)
